

Terms and Conditions

Probationary Period

The probationary period starts from the first day of employment with 42nd Street and lasts for six months. The employee's progress and performance will be reviewed before the end of this period so that their employment can be confirmed for the duration of the contract or terminated in accordance with 42nd Street's policies and procedures. After completion of the probationary period the employee's work will be reviewed through annual reviews.

Disclosure and Barring Service Check

All staff and volunteers at 42nd Street are required to undertake a Disclosure and Barring Service check. Disclosure of a conviction does not automatically debar someone from consideration. The conviction will be taken into account if it is considered to be one that would make someone unsuitable for this type of work. The kind of offences that would bar someone from being appointed include those against children and other vulnerable groups, serious drug related offences and offences involving violence. Offences involving theft, deception, fraud etc may also disbar someone from employment or a volunteer or trustee position. The length of time since the conviction will also be taken into account. If you have any queries about this please contact the Chief Executive, Simone Spray.

Pay

Salaries are normally paid on the 15th day of each month by BACS. Part-time staff will be paid pro-rata. No overtime payments are made.

An employee's salary will increase to the next point on the agreed salary scale on 1 April each year until they reach the top of your scale. Employees with less than six months service on 1 April will not be eligible for the incremental increase for that year.

A cost of living pay increase will normally be awarded each year in line with NJC agreements.

Annual Leave

42nd Street employees are entitled to 27 days annual leave each year, plus public holidays. Part-time workers take annual leave and public holidays on a pro-rata basis.

After five years continuous service staff are entitled to an additional 3 days Annual Leave (pro-rata for part-time staff). These additional days will come into effect for the year commencing 1 April following that during which five years continuous service was completed.

For the purposes of calculating years of service for annual leave, if staff have worked at least six months prior to the 1 April following their appointment then this period will count as one full year.

Employees who start work part way through the annual leave year have their holidays calculated on a pro-rata basis.
